Point of View

THERE'S NO SHORTAGE of rooms with a view in picturesque San Francisco. But one of the best places to stay and to drink in stunning sights is across the Golden Gate. Welcome to Casa Madrona Hotel & Spa in Sausalito. Nearly all guest rooms in this boutique waterfront inn boast fabulous vistas of the harbor, Richardson Bay or the S.F. skyline—from the quaint hillside cottages to the 5,000-square-foot, celeb-worthy Alexandrite Suite (pictured). This two-bedroom residence in the newly renovated Mansion pulls out all the posh stops: two-tiered patio, outdoor hot tub, gourmet kitchen, dining room, outdoor living room, personal gym, private office, bespoke bedrooms, 2½ bathrooms, private concierge and a secret door that connects to the rest of the historic home. Should you want to leave your delightful digs, check out the on-site spa, dine at Poggio Trattoria next door or stroll across the street to the marina. SF Bay Adventures will take you on a memorable sail that's picture perfect. ### DIINOZZO'S SECRET

High-stress situations come with the NCIS job, but Special Agent Anthony DiNozzo can take a punch and dish the wit. He'd appreciate this equally shrewd take on the classic Italian aperitif, the Negroni, from Casa Madrona Hotel & Spa's neighboring restaurant, Poggio Trattoria.

INGREDIENTS:

- 1 oz. 209 gin
- 1 oz. Campari
- 1 oz. Barolo Chinato
- Twist of orange

INSTRUCTIONS:

Combine liquid ingredients and ice in a Boston shaker and shake well. To serve on the rocks, strain into a lowball glass filled with fresh ice. To serve "up," strain into a chilled cocktail glass.
